

A wide-angle, low-angle night photograph of the Porto skyline. In the foreground, the Dom Luis I Bridge, a prominent iron lattice bridge, spans the Douro River. The river's surface reflects the lights from the bridge and the city. To the right, the historic city center is visible, with its characteristic buildings, narrow streets, and the Sé do Porto cathedral. The sky is dark with some scattered clouds.

DjangoCon Europe is run by the community for the community:

We are the 12nd European Conference team, made up of Django practitioners from all levels. We welcome people from all over the world.

Our conference seeks to educate and develop new skills, best practices, and ideas for the benefit of attendees, developers, speakers and everyone in our global Django Community, not least those watching the talks online.

The conference consists of 3 days of talks and a few workshops, followed by 2 days of free sprints.

On the day before the conference, a 1 day Django Girls workshop is held.

Porto is the second-largest city in Portugal and one of the major urban areas of the Iberian Peninsula.

Located along the mouth of the Douro River in northern Portugal, Porto is one of the oldest European centers, and its historical core was proclaimed a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 1996

The western part of its urban area extends to the coastline of the Atlantic Ocean. Its settlement dates back many centuries when it was an outpost of the Roman Empire. Its combined Celtic-Latin name, Portus Cale, has been referred to as the origin of the name Portugal, based on transliteration and oral evolution from Latin. In Portuguese, the name of the city includes a definite article: o Porto ("the port") which is where its English name "Oporto" comes from.

Port wine, one of Portugal's most famous exports, is named after Porto, since the metropolitan area, and in particular, the cellars of Vila Nova de Gaia, were responsible for the packaging, transport, and export of fortified wine. In 2014 and 2017, Porto was elected The Best European Destination by the Best European Destinations Agency. Porto is on the Portuguese Way path of the Camino de Santiago.
